RBC INSURANCE, HOCKEY CANADA & HOCKEY HALL OF FAME RECOGNIZE VIKING VOLUNTEER

Alberta's "RBC Local Hockey Leader" awarded $10,000 for hockey in his community

TORONTO, March 6, 2008— Former Viking Mayor Garry Wolosinka, a long time hockey volunteer, will be recognized in the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto.

Wolosinka is this year's RBC Local Hockey Leader for Alberta, one of 13 volunteers (one for each Hockey Canada branch) recognized today by RBC Insurance, with support from Hockey Canada and the Hockey Hall of Fame. The winners, who will also receive a signed Team Canada jersey, were chosen from hundreds of nominations received from across the country.

"The most common saying around Viking for the past two years (since a fire destroyed the local arena in 2005) has been 'if it wasn't for Garry, this arena would never have been rebuilt'", said Viking resident Ken Zemanek in a nomination essay. "In addition to volunteering his time with small tasks like painting, Garry also volunteered as Chair of the Friends of the Carena Society during the entire planning and construction process."

RBC Insurance will donate $10,000 to a local hockey cause in Wolosinka's name. Wolosinka is also invited to attend a special ceremony on April 28, 2008, unveiling a display honouring the 2007-08 RBC Local Hockey Leaders at the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto. A banner recognizing his achievement will also be raised at the arena.

"RBC Insurance is proud to continue the tradition of recognizing truly dedicated hockey volunteers like Garry Wolosinka," said Neil Skelding, President and CEO, RBC Insurance. "Hockey is a way of life in many Canadian communities, and volunteers are the engines that keep it running."

A panel including National Women's Team member Jennifer Botterill, National Men's Sledge Hockey Team Captain Jean Labonté, hockey legend Ron Ellis, Dr. Allan Morris, chair of the Hockey Canada Board of Directors and other Hockey Canada officials selected winners from the hundreds of nominations submitted through the program website. Hard work, dependability, enthusiasm and leadership were among the criteria considered during the evaluation of submissions. Over the past four years, RBC Insurance has awarded more than $500,000 to grassroots hockey activities across Canada through the RBC Local Hockey Leaders program.

“Every Canadian community has individuals that organize, administer, fundraise, coach and do whatever it takes to keep hockey vibrant in their communities,” said Bob Nicholson, President, Hockey Canada. “We appreciate RBC’s continued leadership not only in recognizing these volunteers, but also in providing the funding to replace aging equipment, improve facilities and generally make hockey more accessible.”
