What are the key risks that are specific to the Issuer?

Business and Economic Conditions: The Issuer's financial results are affected to varying degrees by the general business and economic conditions in the geographic regions in which the Issuer operates. These conditions may include factors such as: economic growth or contraction trends, consumer saving and spending habits, consumer and corporate borrowing and repayment patterns, unemployment rates, the differing economic trajectories among nations across the globe, global tensions and geopolitical uncertainty; the level of business investment and overall business sentiment; trade; the emergence of a new outbreak of a pandemic or other health crisis; the level of government spending as well as fiscal and monetary policy; the level of activity and volatility of the financial markets; disruptions to energy and other commodity markets; competitiveness; supply chain challenges and labour shortages; the evolution of elevated inflationary pressures; possible stagflation or deflation, monetary policies that are adopted by the Bank of Canada, the Federal Reserve in the U.S., the European Central Bank in the European Union, the Bank of England in the UK and monetary authorities in other jurisdictions in which the Issuer operates, and the fiscal policies of the governments of Canada, the U.S., Europe and such other jurisdictions. Such policies can also adversely affect the Issuer's clients and counterparties in Canada, the U.S. and internationally, which may increase the risk of default by such clients and counterparties. Moreover, interest rate changes and actions taken by central banks to manage inflation or the broader economy have implications for the Issuer. The Issuer's financial results are sensitive to changes in interest rates, as described in the "Systemic Risk" section below. For example, a slowdown in economic growth or an economic downturn could adversely impact employment rates and household incomes, consumer spending, housing prices, corporate earnings and business investment and could adversely affect the Issuer's business, including, but not limited to, the demand for its loan and other products, and result in lower earnings and higher credit losses. In addition to risks arising from monetary policy tightening, risks are also emerging around how governments may continue to seek to recoup pandemic-related support, or any new support provided to deal with emerging economic challenges. This may include, for example, changes to tax policy to address fiscal capacity concerns and to balance budgets in the future.

There are also emerging risks related to wealth and income inequality, as well as changing demographics and immigration, which could impact the labour market, the housing market, inflation, demand and consumer trends, and potentially have broader societal and government policy implications.

Information Technology and Cyber Risks: Information technology risk, cyber risks and third-party risk remain top risks, not only for the financial services sector, but for other industries worldwide. Geopolitical tensions have increased the risk of nation state actors attacking critical infrastructure, including banks and critical third parties (e.g. utilities, telecom providers, etc.). Information technology risk is the risk associated with the use, ownership, operation and adoption of information systems that can result in business interruptions, client service disruptions and loss of confidential information causing financial loss, reputational damage and regulatory fines and penalties. Cybersecurity risk is the risk to the Issuer associated with cyberattacks initiated to disrupt or disable its operations or to expose or damage data. The Issuer continues to be subject to heightened inherent risk of cyberattacks, data breaches, cyber extortion and similar compromises, due to: (i) the size, scale, and global nature of its operations; (ii) its heavy reliance on the internet to conduct day-to-day business activities; (iii) its intricate technological infrastructure; and (iv) its reliance on third-party service providers.

Privacy, Data and Related Risks: The protection and responsible use of personal information are critical to maintaining the Issuer's clients' trust. Privacy risk is defined as the risk of improper creation or collection, use, disclosure, retention or destruction of personal information ("PI") that identifies an individual or can be reasonably used to identify an individual. PI includes the personal information entrusted to the Issuer by its clients and employees. Privacy risk includes the risk of failure to safeguard PI against unauthorized access or use. In addition, the management and governance of the Issuer's data also remains a top risk given the high value attributed to its data for the insights it can generate for clients and communities. Data management risk is the risk of failing to manage information appropriately throughout its lifecycle due to inadequate processes and controls, resulting in legal or regulatory consequences, reputational damage or financial loss. Resulting implications from failing to manage data and privacy risks could include financial loss, theft of intellectual property and/or confidential information, litigation, enhanced regulatory attention and penalties, as well as reputational damage. Effective privacy and information management practices continue to grow in importance, as demonstrated by the continued development of complex regulations in the jurisdictions in which the Issuer operates. Privacy and data related risks have also heightened as a result of the evolving threat landscape, and associated data breach risks.

Regulatory Changes: The ongoing introduction of new or revised regulations requires enhanced focus across the organization on meeting additional regulatory requirements across the multiple jurisdictions in which the Issuer operates. See business segment results on pages 32 to 57 of the 2023 MD&A and pages 12 to 22 of the Second Quarter 2024 MD&A incorporated by reference in the Base Prospectus for information on the Issuer's business segments and the jurisdictions in which it operates. Financial and other reforms that have been implemented or are being implemented, across multiple jurisdictions, such as digital, data and technology reforms, cyber security and anti-money laundering regulations, interest rate benchmark and payments reform, as well as privacy, climate, sustainability and consumer protection regulatory initiatives, continue to impact the Issuer's operations and strategies and may negatively impact its financial performance, condition and prospects.

Where will the securities be traded?

Application has been made by the Issuer (or on its behalf) for the Notes to be listed and admitted to trading on the SIX Swiss Exchange.

What are the key risks that are specific to the securities?

Risks associated with the Notes include the following:

Modification and waivers: holders of the Notes are exposed to the risk that their rights in respect of the Notes are varied against their will, which may result in an investment in any Notes becoming less advantageous to a particular holder depending on individual circumstances.

Secondary market: an active secondary market in respect of the Notes may never be established or may be illiquid and this would adversely affect the value at which an investor could sell its Notes.

Exchange rate risk: if an investor holds Notes which are not denominated in the investor's home currency, the investor will be exposed to movements in exchange rate adversely affecting the value of the holding of Notes. Also the imposition of exchange controls or certain other specified events in relation to the Notes could result in an investor not receiving payment on the Notes.

Credit ratings: Credit ratings assigned to the Issuer or the Notes might not reflect all the risks associated with an investment in the Notes.

Risks relating to Reference Item Linked Notes: an investor's return (if any) will depend upon the performance of the Reference Item. An investment in the Notes entails significant risks that are not associated with similar investments in conventional debt or equity securities and in some circumstances the amount of interest payable on the Notes on an interest payment date may be zero and/or the value of the Notes and/or the amount paid at maturity may be less than the purchase price amount of the Notes and may be zero in which case an investor may lose some or all of the amount it invested in the Notes.

The Notes do not benefit from a protection amount: on the maturity date the amount payable in respect of the Notes may be less than the initial investment amount and purchasers of the Notes are exposed to full loss of their investment due to the lack of protection amount.

Cap on return: the maximum possible return on the Notes will be limited to principal amount of the Notes and the return will not increase even if the Reference Item outperforms the stated maximum return.

Market disruptions: the Calculation Agent may determine that a market disruption event or other adjustment event has occurred which may have an adverse effect on the value of or payment received with respect to the Notes and/or may delay applicable payments or settlement.

Risks relating to Index Linked Notes: the value of the Reference Item on any day will reflect the value of its constituents on such day. Changes in the composition of the Reference Item and factors which either affect or may affect the value of the constituents, will affect the value of the Reference Item and therefore may adversely affect the return on an investment in the Index Linked Notes.

Additional disruption events: if any of Change in Law, Hedging Disruption or Increased Cost of Hedging occur, the Notes will be subject to adjustment or may be redeemed early. The amount due on such redemption may be substantially less than an investor's investment and may in certain circumstances be zero.

1. What is this product?

Type English law governed notes

Objectives

(Terms that appear in bold in this section are described in more detail in the table(s) below.)

The product is designed to provide a return in the form of (1) regular fixed interest payments and (2) a cash payment on the maturity date. The product has a fixed term and will terminate on the maturity date.

Interest: On each interest payment date you will receive an interest payment calculated by multiplying the product notional amount by the interest rate of 3.85% per annum and then applying the day count fraction to adjust this amount to reflect the length of the relevant interest period. The interest payments are not linked to the performance of the underlying. The relevant dates are shown in the table(s) below.

Interest payment dates
	15 May 2024
	Maturity date

Termination on the maturity date: On the maturity date you will receive:

- if the final reference level is at or above the initial reference level, a cash payment equal to EUR 1,002; or
- if the final reference level is below the initial reference level, a cash payment equal to EUR 1,000.

Under the product terms, certain dates specified above and below will be adjusted if the respective date is either not a business day or not a trading day (as applicable). Any adjustments may affect the return, if any, you receive.

The product terms also provide that if certain exceptional events occur (1) adjustments may be made to the product and/or (2) the issuer may terminate the product early. These events are specified in the product terms and principally relate to the underlying, the product and the issuer. The return (if any) you receive on such early termination is likely to be different from the scenarios described above and may be less than the amount you invested.

Intended retail investor The product is intended to be offered to retail investors who fulfil all of the criteria below:

- they have advanced knowledge and a comprehensive understanding of the product, its market and its specific risks and rewards, with relevant financial industry experience including either frequent trading or large holdings in products of a similar nature, risk and complexity, either independently or through professional advice;
- they seek income, capital growth and/or full protection of the product notional amount, subject to the issuer's ability to pay, expect the movement in the underlying to perform in a way that generates a favourable return and have an investment horizon of the recommended holding period specified below;

3. they accept the risk that the issuer could fail to pay or perform its obligations under the product but otherwise they are not able to bear any loss of their investment; and
4. they are willing to accept a level of risk to achieve potential returns that is consistent with the summary risk indicator shown below.

2. What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 9 months. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less. You may not be able to sell your product easily or may have to sell at a price that significantly impacts on how much you get back.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as 1 out of 7, which is the lowest risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a very low level, and poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact our capacity to pay you.

To the extent the currency of the country in which you purchase this product or your account currency differs from the product currency, please be aware of currency risk. You will receive payments in a different currency so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

Inflation erodes the purchasing value of cash over time and this may result in the decline in real terms of any capital reimbursed or interest you may be paid under the investment.

You are entitled to receive back at least 100.00% of your capital. Any amount over this, and any additional return, depends on future market performance and is uncertain. However, this protection against future market performance will not apply if you cash in before maturity or in case of immediate termination by the issuer.

If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.

For detailed information about all risks relating to the product please refer to the risk sections of the prospectus and any supplements thereto as specified in the section "7. Other relevant information" below.

Main factors likely to affect future returns on the product

Your return on the product at the end of the recommended holding period will principally be affected by (1) the price at which you purchase the product, (2) the performance of the underlying over the recommended holding period and (3) the ability of the issuer to make payments that become due on the product. The value of the product before the maturity date will also be affected by general economic and market conditions, the volatility of the underlying (which is a measure of the extent of movement in the level of the underlying), interest rates, the remaining time to maturity and the ability of the issuer to make payments.

What could affect my return positively?

- An increase in the level of the underlying

What could affect my return negatively?

- The issuer's inability to make payments on the product when they fall due

The factors listed above provide general guidance on how changes in the level of the underlying may affect your return if you purchase the product at inception and hold it to the end of the recommended holding period. If you purchase or sell the product after inception, your return on the product will also be affected by the purchase or sale price and the level of the underlying at the time of sale or, in the case of a purchase, at and following the time of purchase. The precise impact will depend on the timing and effects of these changes, and the above list should not be viewed as guaranteeing a particular outcome. See "1. What is this product?" for a discussion of how the payments you will receive during the life of the product and the payment you will receive at the end of the recommended holding period will be calculated.

In severely adverse market conditions, if you hold the product to the end of the recommended holding period, you are entitled to receive back 100.00% of your investment. Any amount over this, and any additional return, depends on market conditions and is uncertain.

If you sell the product in severely adverse market conditions prior to the recommended holding period, your return may be lower than what you would have received if you held the product to the end of the recommended holding period and may be as low as zero. See "5. How long should I hold it and can I take money out early" below for additional information.

3. What happens if the issuer is unable to pay out?

You are exposed to the risk that the issuer might be unable to meet its obligations in connection with the product for instance in the event of bankruptcy or an official directive for resolution action. This may materially adversely affect the value of the product and could lead to you losing some or all of your investment in the product. The product is not covered by any deposit protection scheme.

4. What are the costs?

The Reduction in Yield (RIY) shows what impact the total costs you pay will have on the investment return you might get. The total costs take into account one-off, ongoing and incidental costs.

The amounts shown here are the cumulative costs of the product itself, for the recommended holding period. They include potential early exit penalties. The figures assume you invest EUR 10,000. The figures are estimates and may change in the future.

Costs over time

Investment: EUR 10,000

Scenarios

If you cash in at the end of the recommended holding period

Total costs EUR 0.00

Impact on return (RIY) 0.00%

The reduction in yield shown in the above table is not annualised, which means it may not be comparable to the reduction in yield values shown in other key information documents.

The "Total costs" in the table above represents in monetary terms the aggregated amount of costs associated with the investment, assuming the product performs in line with the moderate performance scenario. The "Impact on return" represents how much the expected costs of the product would affect your return in such scenario. Disregarding the impact on your return in that scenario, the estimated entry and exit costs as a percentage of the product notional amount are estimated to be 0.00% if you cash in at the end of the recommended holding period.

The person selling you or advising you about this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs, and show you the impact that all costs will have on your investment over time.

Composition of costs

The table below shows:

- The impact of the different types of costs on the investment return you might get at the end of the recommended holding period
- The meaning of the different cost categories.

The table shows the impact on return.

One-off costs	Entry costs	0.00%	The impact of the costs already included in the price.
	Exit costs	0.00%	The impact of the costs of exiting your investment when it matures.

The costs shown in the table above represent the split of the reduction in yield shown in the costs over time table at the end of the recommended holding period. The split of the actual estimated costs of the product as a percentage of the product notional amount is estimated to be as follows: entry costs: 0.00% and exit costs: 0.00%.

5. How long should I hold it and can I take money out early?

Recommended holding period: 9 months

The product aims to provide you with the return described under "1. What is this product?" above. However, this only applies if the product is held to maturity. It is therefore recommended that the product is held until 15 May 2025 (maturity).

The product does not guarantee the possibility to disinvest other than by selling the product either (1) through the exchange (if the product is exchange traded) or (2) off-exchange, where an offer for such product exists. Save as otherwise disclosed in exit costs (see section "4. What are the costs?" above), no fees or penalties will be charged by the issuer for any such transaction, however an execution fee might be chargeable by your broker if applicable. By selling the product before its maturity, you may receive back less than you would have received if you had kept the product until maturity.

Exchange listing	SIX Swiss Exchange – Structured Products	Price quotation	Percentage
Smallest tradable unit	EUR 1,000
